

In God We Trust (happy birthday to us)

Two-fifty candles... one bright flame.
Let's sing it out—America's name.
From thirteen shores and a battle cry,
Freedom rising under open skies.
Ink on parchment, brave and bold,
“We're gonna stand,” the story told.
Through winters cold at Valley Forge,
We held the line; we found our voice—
A brand-new nation taking shape,
With faith and fire, we chose our way.
Raise your hands, let the bells ring,
Hear the whole wide country sing—

Say it loud: In God we trust!
Say it proud: In God we trust!
One more time: In God we trust!
Happy birthday—happy birthday—happy birthday to us!
In God we trust—happy birthday to us!

In God we trust, In God we trust, In God we trust,
To take care of us.

In God we trust—yeah, that's who we are,
Stars and stripes, shining like a guiding star.
Happy birthday to us—let the whole world know,
Two-fifty years and we're still gonna grow.
From sea to sea, one heart, one home,

In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
We trust in God

We wrote new laws, we learned to bend,
To keep the promise and defend.

In God We Trust (happy birthday to us)

Wagons west, the railroads run,
New dreams born beneath one sun.
A nation tested, torn in two,
Still, we fought for what was true.
Then hands were joined, the wounds would heal,
And hope kept turning like a wheel.
Every mile, every name,
Every sacrifice, every flame—
In God we trust—yeah, that's who we are,
Stars and stripes, shining like a guiding star.
Happy birthday to us—let the whole world know,
Two-fifty years and we're still gonna grow.
From sea to sea, one heart, one home,

In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
We trust in God

We pledge allegiance to the flag, that old red, white and blue
We pledge allegiance under God, and we all know that it is true
Two hundred and fifty years of hopes and dreams
A lot of good and a lot of bad but we still made it thru.
Because, in God we trust and it's right that we do
Say it loud: In God we trust!
Say it proud: In God we trust!
One more time: In God we trust!
Happy birthday—happy birthday—happy birthday to us!
In God we trust, In God we trust, In God we trust,
To take care of us.

Factory lights and city streets,
Thunder of boots when duty speaks.
Across the oceans, wars we faced,
For freedom's cause, for human grace.

In God We Trust (happy birthday to us)

Then a dream stood up, said, "Let it ring,"
And changed the world with peaceful strength.
From a small step on the moonlit dust,
To hearts that prayed through trial and trust.
Through the calm and through the storm,
We hold the line, we press on—
In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
We trust in God
Say it loud: In God we trust!
Say it proud: In God we trust!
One more time: In God we trust!
Happy birthday—happy birthday—happy birthday to us!
In God we trust, In God we trust, In God we trust,
To take care of us.

Light the candles—two-five-zero,
Look how far we've come. With many a hero
We've had our broken hearts, we've had our battles scars,
But we're not done. The battle for peace rages on.
So, here's to the farmers and the teachers,
The soldiers and preachers' firemen and police
who work so hard to protect me
To every hard-working heartbeat of every saint
That carries on everything that made us great.
and made us strong

Say it loud: In God we trust!
Say it proud: In God we trust!
One more time: In God we trust!
Happy birthday—happy birthday—happy birthday to us!
In God we trust, In God we trust, In God we trust,
To take care of us.
In God we trust, In God we trust, In God we trust,

In God We Trust (happy birthday to us)

To take care of us.

In God we trust—yeah, that's who we are,
Stars and stripes, shining like a guiding star.
Happy birthday to us —hear the whole world sing,
Two-fifty years—let freedom ring!
From sea to sea, one heart, one home,
In God we trust—happy birthday to us!
In God we trust... happy birthday to us.
Say it loud: In God we trust!
Say it proud: In God we trust!
One more time: In God we trust!
Happy birthday—happy birthday—happy birthday to us!

In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.
In God we trust, that's who we are. In God we trust, that's who we are.

To take care of us.
