

GOD BLESS OUR TROOPS

As the sun comes up over an American town,
Another brave heart's gearing up now.
Boots hit dirt, engines roll,
They carry freedom in their soul.
Somewhere a mama bows her head,
Somewhere kids are kneeling by the bed.
And every prayer goes where they go,

Through the rain, through the smoke.
They stand for us, so we stand and say,
Lord, be their strength today.

God bless our troops, God bless the U.S.A.,
God bless the ones who guard our homes while they're away.
On the sea, in the sky, on the land where heroes move,
Lord, cover every step they take, watch over all they do.
For the red, white, and blue,
For the faithful and the true,
With grateful hearts, we raise this prayer,
Oh please, God bless our troops.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.

Even though they don't know you, they are willing to die for you.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.
Theres no greater love than this, that someone would die for you
God bless our troops. God bless our troops. God bless our troops.

Army strong when the road gets long as they fight the fight that's true,
Navy steady, brave and true as they sail across the ocean blue.
Air Force high in the sky where only eagles dare to fly,
Marines hold the line with fire in their eyes. As they shout out, semper fi.
Coast Guard guarding our home from coast to coast on the ocean and in the sky
Space Force watching through the darkest of nights watching over us like a seeing eye.
Different uniforms, one mission, all together one force and none better
Standing tall for me and you.
They stand for us, so we stand and say,

GOD BLESS OUR TROOPS

Lord, be their strength today.

God bless our troops, God bless the U.S.A.,
God bless the ones who guard our homes while they're away.
On the sea, in the sky, on the land where heroes move,
Lord, cover every step they take, watch over all they do.
For the red, white, and blue,
For the faithful and the true,
With grateful hearts, we raise this prayer,
God bless our troops.

When the night gets long and the miles get cold,
Be the fire in their in their belly that warms their bones,
Lord, fill them with the hope they hold tight and come home.
When the battle weighs and the tears fall from our eyes,
Let them feel a whole nation standing with them right by their side.
And bring them home, bring them home,
When the work out there is through.
Till that day, we won't stop praying to you,

God bless our troops.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.
Even though they don't know you, they are willing to die for you.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.
Theres no greater love than this, that someone would die for you
God bless our troops. God bless our troops. God bless our troops.

God bless our troops, God bless the U.S.A.,
God bless the ones who guard our homes while they're away.
On the sea, in the sky, on the land where heroes move,
Lord, cover every step they take, watch over all they do.
For the red, white, and blue,
For the faithful and the true,
With grateful hearts, we raise this prayer,
God bless our troops.
Yes, with grateful hearts, we raise this prayer,

GOD BLESS OUR TROOPS

God bless our troops.

They stand for us, so we stand and say,
Lord, be their strength today.
These are the hands and hearts that hold
The line for freedoms bought in old,
And still defended to this day
By those who serve so far away.
So, every town and every church,
Every family, every place of work,
Lifts one prayer both proud and true:
Lord God, please bless our troops.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.

Even though they don't know you, they are willing to die for you.
God bless our troops. God bless our troops.
Theres no greater love than this, that someone would die for you
God bless our troops. God bless our troops. God bless our troops.

God bless our troops, God bless America,
God bless the brave who stand between our homeland and danger's call.
From the shoreline to the desert, from the heavens to the ground,
Lord, be the voice that leads them up, be the peace that brings them home.
For the red, white, and blue,
For the ones who see us through,
We stand as one and raise this cry,
God bless our troops tonight.
God bless our troops, God bless the U.S.A.
We all pray
